NEW MIRACLE ROSE HEDGE!

ROSA MULTIFLORA JAPONICA

Hardy, Stockproof, Attractive - A Living Fence!

An all-purpose hedge—ideal for lawns; excellent for windbreaks; unexcelled as a screen to hide an unsightly view; and if a stock-tight fence is required, Rosa Multiflora does the trick, and within four years should turn any type of live stock with possible exception of young pigs. The graceful plants grow 6 to 8 ft. tall, and 5 to 7 ft. wide. For a dense hedge or fence, set plants 15 to 18 in. apart in the row. For a decorative hedge or screen, the plants may be spaced as far as 20 to 24 in. apart. Very hardy. Blooms late in spring. Needs no shearing, pruning or support, but for a lawn hedge may be controlled by shearing to any desired height or width. Thrives almost anywhere, but does best in full sun, and cannot produce a dense, fence-like hedge in woods or in swampy locations. At the right we list a few of the many advantages to be derived from a living fence of Rosa Multiflora:

- Fence may be well established in from two to three years.
- Small initial investment that affords permanence and enhances property values.
- An excellent cover for wild life.
- Ornamental in foliage, flowers and fruit.
- Being strong, dense and thorny, easily repels livestock and other unwanted intruders.
- Makes an excellent windbreak.
- Does not require clipping, pruning, training or support.

THE ROSE GARDENIA (Gardenia veitchii).

One of the most popular and desired of flowers, so often, and so aptly called "The Flower of Romance." As a token of sentiment or expression of regard, no flower quite takes the place of the Gardenia. While in the extreme southern states it grows as a sturdy garden bush of some height, you can grow it indoors in the coldest northern states, as it makes a grand house plant. Once established, it blooms from early spring on into autumn. Flowers are waxy white, of entrancing fragrance; the foliage a rich, glossy green with bluish cast. Grows best at living room temperature. Give same culture as Geraniums. Strong plants from 2 1/4-in. pots, priced low at 95c each; 2 for $1.80, postpaid.

DWARF FRUIT TREES

Large Fruits - Early Yields!

DWARF APPLE TREES

Requiring little space, these unique little trees are ideal for the city or suburban dweller who lacks sufficient room for the growth of standard sized trees. Dwarf trees commence bearing the second or third year after planting, and due to their small size, may be planted as close as 15 feet apart. Mature tree is seldom if ever over 12 to 15 feet in height, depending on variety planted. Fruit of dwarf trees is fully as large as that of standard trees, and the quantities produced away out of proportion to their size.

IMPORTANT: Dwarf Apple trees should be planted with graft or union (the joining union between the trunk's base and root system) at least 1 inch above the soil surface. If the graft is covered, roots may form above the union, and the tree will develop into its original standard form and height. It is also well to stake dwarf trees for the first 2 years to furnish support from windstorm damage.

Dwarf Yellow Transparent } Summer
Dwarf Cortland } Fall
Dwarf Red McIntosh }

Dwarf Red Delicious } Winter

Your choice of above varieties in 2-yr., 2½- to 4-ft. trees, $3.10 each; 2 for $5.90, not prepaid. Specify varieties wanted.

duced by them. The tree is absolutely hardy, and will grow wherever Apples flourish. Husky, 9/16 in. trees, only $3.50 each; 2 for $6.90, not prepaid.

New SEPTEMBER

EVERBEARING RED RASPBERRY

A new Everbearing variety that ripens its autumn crop 3 to 4 weeks earlier than any other kind, commencing to produce its fall yield in early September, and maturing the crop before hard freezing weather of late autumn. Like all so-called Everbearers, September produces two crops in one year—the first crop in mid-summer—the second during September and October.

Plants are tall, thrifty growers, and heavy producers. Berries firm, large in size, round, and of excellent quality, bright red in color, making a most attractive display. Planting stocks are still limited, but be sure to order a few plants this spring and get started with this outstanding berry. You'll like it.

LATHAM

Marvelous keeping qualities make this variety a leader for shipping and canning purposes. Berries start ripening midseason and continue an unbelievably long time. Record crops are produced every year. Our Latham plants have all received double inspection by authorized State Inspectors, are disease free, and first class quality, heavy and well rooted.

Giant Fruit - Huge Yields - Best Varieties BLACK RASPBERRIES

Black Hawk • The Sensational New Blackcap

A grand new variety recently released by Iowa State College after twenty years of tests, during which time the following outstanding traits and characteristics were conclusively proven:

1. Extremely Hardy. Black Hawk survived the Armistice Day blizzard of 1940—the most damaging out-of-season freeze for fruit plants ever recorded in the Midwest. There was absolutely no loss of plants, and an 88 per cent survival of new fruiting canes. Of the fifteen other varieties in the test, only one equalled Black Hawk in cane survival.

2. Outstanding Heavy Producer. Black Hawk has yielded as much as 5006 pints of berries per acre in one season. In a 5-year test of nine varieties, none equalled Black Hawk in yield.

3. Temptingly Sweet and Delicious Flavor. Also, because of the fleshy nature of the berries, it is less "seedy" than most Raspberries.

4. Strongly Resistant to Anthracnose and Other Virus Diseases. In the past these Raspberry diseases have seriously damaged many Raspberry plantings. By planting Black Hawk this menace is greatly lessened.

Black Hawk starts ripening its huge fruit crop a few days later than Cumberland, and may be classed as a midseason to late variety.

Whether you need only a few plants in the garden or wish to establish a commercial plantation, you will make no mistake with Black Hawk. It is already a tried and tested variety, proven to have outstanding worth and merit. Get started this spring!

Price: 1-yr., No. 1 plants, 3 for $1.65; 6 for $2.98; 12 for $5.40; 25 for $10.50; 100 for $39.75, postpaid.
